Predicting Children's Integrative Self-Knowledge in Terms of Parenting Characteristics of Parents

M. A. Besharat, Ph.D.
S. Bazzazian, Ph.D.
N. Ghorbani, Ph.D.
M. S. Asghari, M. A.

Abstract
The relationship between parenting characteristics of parents and children’s integrative self-knowledge was investigated in the present study. The aim was to examine the predictive power of children's integrative self-knowledge in terms of parenting characteristics of involvement, autonomy support, and warmth in a sample of students.

